

Oct 2017 – Rosio M

Rosio drove to work at Brewingz On The Fly in Dayton on Saturday, August 26, as Hurricane Harvey was moving inland. It was raining in her part of Houston, but the roads were open and the rain cleared as she made her way into Dayton. She managed a busy Saturday shift, although it cleared out around 8:30 PM, earlier than usual. As she began to clean up and process paperwork, she glanced at the TV for the first time since she arrived at work and realized the severity of Harvey was much worse than when she had left earlier that day. She rushed to close for the day so she could head home while she still had the opportunity, but it was too late. As she drove into Houston every road was closed and she had no choice but to return to Dayton. She would not be able to return home until the next Thursday.

BreWingZ On The Fly kept its power throughout the storm and had food available, so on Monday Rosio opened its doors and ran the restaurant all on her own. As the customers lined up, she took orders, cooked, cleaned, and ran a one-woman shift throughout the day. The cook times were longer than usual, but the customers were appreciative for Rosio's efforts and hard work, as well as the comfort food available to them. Rosio opened and closed the restaurant on her own that day, and if you asked any of her co-workers, they wouldn't hesitate to bet she did it without complaint and with a smile, "Rosio is fantastic. If we could have a Rosio in each BreWingz location we'd be set!" says one of her directors.

Rosio has been with BreWingZ for over 10 years. She was introduced to the company while outsourced for inventory, but she made the switch and joined the BreWingz team as a server. After only two months she trained to be a keyholder and her career took off from there! As she reminisces her years at BreWingZ she can name each manager she has worked with by name and offers to tell stories, "The best part about my job is the people I work with. What else I can say except they are like family to me."

At BreWingZ or at home, family is very important to Rosio. She spends all her free time with her sister, nieces, and nephew, "We go to the zoo, Pokémon hunting, watch movies, anything that gets us out of the house. Seeing everything through their eyes is very humbling and refreshing." Her mom, who lives in Mexico, still wakes her up each morning with a phone call, and calls each night to make sure she's home safe. Rosio is sure to always put her family first. BreWingZ is proud to have her as part of the BWZ family.
